THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS

VOL. IX. THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 1913. No. 7.

THE JUNIOR PROM.

Who Can Find a Better One? Everything Right Up to the Mark.

Big reward offered for any one who did not have a good time at the Prom. There is nothing but words of praise for the Prom committee and the delightful dance which they so successfully carried out. The decorations. for one thing! The gymnasium was festooned from the center of the roof to the sides with fluffy ropes of blue and gold. Blue and gold were the large class numerals on the stage curtain. Everywhere the bareness of the building had been concealed by tasteful decorations. The music, Wilson's orchestra from Rutland, was in one corner of the floor, and how they could play! Moonlight dances were a feature of the evening, and owing to the ingenuity of some members of the committee, a real moon face grinned down at the dancers from above. What a jolly grin it did have on its round countenance, and the grin was reflected on the faces of the dancers. The gentlemen became the waiters during intermission and brought up the refreshments from unknown depths. From seven until two seemed a long time to dance, but everyone hated to stop when the strains of "good-bye, everybody", were heard. Good time, good Prom, good class.

Prom Committee—W. G. Hubbard, jr., chairman, R. M. Hutchins, O. B. Rogers, L. W. Cluff, Miss Helen Haugh, Miss Eleanor Hatch.

Patrons and Patronesses—President and Mrs. John M. Thomas, Professor and Mrs. Everett Skillings, Miss Caroline Crawford, Professor and Mrs. A. E. Lambert, Professor and Mrs. F. W. Cady, Professor and Mrs. P. N. Swett. Professor and Mrs. G. W. Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Buttolph, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fletcher.

THE "CHAMPS" DEFEATED.

The bomb has burst! The sun is o'ershadowed! The spirit of Waterloo prevades the atmosphere! Why? Do you ask why? 'Tis this. A team of veterans crowned with the laurels of one hard earned victory has been tumbled into the cellar by a band of upstarts. Walker's has been defeated and Dwyer's has marched to the heights of glory to the tune of an 11 to 9 victory. And all this sorrow came about despite the masterly fielding of "Sweze" at first base and "Splint's" brilliant stick work as pinch-hitter. "Van," who crushed Sargent's team so easily in the last contest, occupied the mound for Walker's during the initial innings but his faculty of mistaking first base for home plate made him overgenerous with passes and he retired in favor of "Cyclone" Hutchins who had the first batter completely at his mercy. "Chub" Cronk, who officiated for the tribe of Dwyers, was very effective and he forced several of his opponents including such batters as Whitney and

VARSITY DEFEATS NEW HAMPSHIRE.

"Bill" Pitches Great Ball and Applies the White Wash Brush. Triggs on Hand with the Wagon Tongue.

Middlebury defeated New Hampshire State College on the campus Thursday, May 8, in the best game so far this season. MacLaughlin pitched first-class ball all the way through, allowing the visitors only two hits and striking out nine men. He had the game in hand all the time and until the ninth inning New Hampshire did not have a chance to score.

First inning. MacLaughlin struck out the first two men. The third man hit an easy one to Triggs and was thrown out at first. For Middlebury Robinson reached first on an error. Jones flied out to the short stop. Triggs hit to the second baseman and Robinson was thrown out at second. Aylward hit to the second baseman, who made an error, allowing him to reach first and Triggs to reach second. Weafer hit a ground ball to the first baseman and was put out.

Second inning. The first two men up for New Hampshire hit to Weafer and were thrown out at first. The next man got a good hit. MacLaughlin tightened up and struck out the next man. Williams, the first man up for Middlebury, struck out. Leonard hit to the short stop and was thrown out at first. Loder struck out.

Third inning. MacLaughlin struck out the first man. Number two hit an easy one to McLaughlin and was out at first. The next man reached first on an error by Weafer. The next man hit a hard one to center field that looked good for two bases, but Leonard was there and caught it, retiring New Hampshire. MacLaughlin hit to the pitcher and was out. Robinson struck out. Jones flied out to the left fielder.

Fourth inning. The first man hit to Triggs and was out. The next hit to Weafer and was out. MacLaughlin passed the next man. The next man flied out to Leonard. Right here Middlebury started. Triggs got a fine hit over second base. Aylward hit to the first baseman and was out. Weafer got a hit, putting Triggs on third. Williams got a hit, scoring Triggs and Weafer. Leonard hit a liner to the short stop, but he got it and made a fine double play.

Fifth inning. The first man struck out. The next got a base on balls. The third man hit to Casey Jones and was out at first. The next man hit to MacLaughlin, making three out. Loder, the first man up for Middlebury, struck out. MacLaughlin reached first on an error. Robinson struck out. Jones hit to the pitcher and was out.

Sixth inning. The first man hit to Jones and was out at first. The next man flied out to Triggs. The third man flied out to Robinson. Triggs started things for Middlebury with a two-bagger. Aylward got a hit. scoring Triggs. Aylward was caught out trying to steal. Weafer hit to the pitcher and was out. Williams also hit to the pitcher, making the third out.

Seventh inning. The first two men struck out and the third hit to MacLaughlin and was out. Leonard hit to the pitcher and was out at first. Loder reached first on an error by the third baseman. MacLaughlin flied out to the left fielder. Robinson flied out to the center fielder.

Eighth inning. The first man hit an easy one to Loder and was out. The second man struck out. The last man hit to Jones and was out at first. Jones started things for Middlebury with a hit. Triggs got a hit. Aylward flied out to the center fielder. Weafer flied out to the right fielder. Williams hit to the first baseman and was out.

Ninth inning. The first man hit to Jones and was thrown out at first. The second man got a hit. The next man reached first on an error by Triggs. He went to second on the next play, making a man on first and second with one out, but the last man hit to Triggs and was out at first, ending the game.

THE 1914 JUNIOR PLAY.

"The Canavans" Given Before a Large Audience. The Irish Comedy Well Received.

"Look at all I might have done against the Queen and didn't do," said the Miller of Scartana, when he feared he would be taken as a rebel. Poor Peter Canavan was much distressed. Right when he had reached a great height of distinction, namely, to be made Mayor of Scartana, who should arrive but his scapegrace brother, Antony, who had deserted from the Queen's army and was traveling as a peddler. Alas! for the Miller. He was ever a fearful man, and he hid under the flour sack when the Captain of the troop came lest he should be arrested. Antony, however, with his smooth tongue was master of the situation. He discovered the admiration of Captain Headley—who, by the way, was also a Canavan—for Queen Elizabeth, prevailed upon him to recite a sonnet, and made such a ninny of him, generally, that he would have departed in peace, had it not been for fate in the form of a lace handkerchief which the Captain had lost. In prying among the flour sacks, the Captain pryed into Peter the Miller and all was lost. The faithful widows did their best and so did Antony but to no avail. The Miller and his good-for-nothing brother were both hustled to prison with the promise of being executed at dawn.

The prison scene was most amusing. Peter declared his chest was never in the same place since Captain Headley poked it with his sword—and when Antony said that many a man would be proud to be beheaded, the poor Miller worried lest in the judgment day he might not have the right head on the right body. The widows offered words of rather cold comfort through the door grating and let it be known that they were aware of the whereabouts of the Miller's money. Antony, meanwhile, was not idle in devising means of escape but finding the plan of escape through the window would not work, hurriedly impersonated Queen Elizabeth and so pulled the wool over the eyes of Headley by flattery and honeyed words that he withdrew his men and the two brothers calmly walked out of prison. Matters took a sudden turn in the third act when it was thought that Queen Elizabeth had been murdered and the Antony was the guilty wretch. Even Peter, the Mayor of Scartana rejoiced that his brother had the proud distinction of being the murderer of so great a personage as the Queen. "Queen Elizabeth was strong; she killed lords and priests and bishops; but Antony Canavan was stronger; he killed Queen Elizabeth." The widows also praised him, but Antony feared trouble because his name was "up". Indeed both he and the proud Captain Headley trembled like hares when they heard that Lord Essex and his troops were coming but Peter, suddenly brave, fired his gun out

A College Debating Team.

The freshmen have been energetic and brave enough to go forth, survey carefully, and win a good fight in the field of debate. We should, by all means, follow their example and as a college send out men who by intellectual powers and strength of oratory could tack more victories to our record. Surely this is about the best training that a man can acquire while in college, a training that will do as much or even more for him in after life than anything else which he may undertake. To cultivate his brain in this way is a sure road to the attainment of an intelligence and a mass of information which always receives the hurry call in the business world today. What if Clark and St. Lawrence did defeat us when we last met? That was no dishonor. The thing to do now is to get back those scalps and keep them here.

Cap and Gown.

Thursday morning, May 8, the seniors wore their caps and gowns for the first time. The class plans to wear them to the morning classes and to chapel during the rest of the year. A class meeting was held on Monday, at which arrangements were made for a college orchestra at Commencement.

Kaleidoscope Meeting.

A meeting of the 1915 Kaleidoscope Board was held recently for the purpose of organization. It is the intention of the board to cover the news of Junior Week more completely than has been done in the past.

INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET.

Tho athletic event of Friday, May 9, of Junior Week was the Interclass Track and Field Meet. The field events were held near the Gym, but the track events were run off on the new Porter athletic field. Good work in the dashes and long runs was much hampered by a soft track and a heavy wind, but despite these handicaps the contestants showed up well and more can be expected of them in the future. Dade, '15, in the 220-yard hurdles broke his own record of last year and set the peg at 28 1-5 seconds. As was expected, Jones, '15, won the mile and half-mile with some to spare. besides getting second place in the 100 and 440-yard dashes and the broad jump. Kron, '15, set a fresh goal for future aspirants to climb to in the high jump, when he cleared the bar at 5 ft. 4 in., affer a hard struggle with "Cass", '14, for premier honors. As for the two short dashes, all we can say is that nothing unusual happened, for Triggs, '14, was present and participated. The shot put and hammer throw went to Leonard, '13, and Condit, '16, respectively, and Rogers, '16, had an easy time of it in the pole vault. The two-mile run was the last event of the day and this long, hard race went to the freshmen, who secured first, second and fourth places. Lamere, '16, and Weaver, '16, ran a pretty race and finished in the order named. The points captured by the four classes are as follows:

1915, - - - - -	62
1916, - - - - -	35½
1914, - - - - -	22
1913, - - - - -	20½

An Arctic Ball Game.

Shivering in overcoats and heavy sweaters in the face of a biting north wind, the freshman force of base ball warriors downed their sub-freshmen rivals by the score of 8 to 2. Taylor pitched fairly good ball for the "pea-greens", but the cold had a considerable effect on the batting of his opponents and nipped their prowess and enthusiasm before it could get a good start. The "subs" used four pitchers in a vain attempt to stem the tide of defeat. Perhaps we can lay the wildness of these twirlers to the weather also. The two catchers, Butterfield, '16, and Bresnehan caught a good game and were right on their job all the time. Attendance was weak and fitful, for the average spectator, if he is not a rabid fan, has a distinct aversion to freezing to death.

Glee Club Concert.

On the evening of May 8 the College glee club gave a concert in the opera house before a large audience including the sub-freshmen.

As a whole the concert was one to leave a good impression with the sub-freshman as to the musical talent of the college.

THE ORIGINAL NON-LEAKABLE
FOUNTAIN PEN

Always ready to write at the first stroke without shaking.

That is a vital point which is lacking in ordinary fountain pens. You can readily understand how this is made possible in a Moore when we explain that the pen when not in use lies submerged in ink which keeps it moist and prepared for instant writing, positively eliminating the necessity of shaking.

But that is not all of its strong features. The Moore can be carried in any position without the least fear of leaking. Has a large ink capacity. Always writes freely and evenly, and is easily filled.

Every Moore Non-Leakable Fountain Pen carries with it the most unconditional guarantee.

ALUMNI NOTES.

A. Barton Hepburn, '71, recently arrived in London from a four-months' shooting trip in Africa. The New York Times quotes his opinion on business prosperity:

"There is great need for money among the Balkan States engaged in war. Austria-Hungary stands ready to loan and Germany, especially, expects to have strong demands made upon her. In France the money conditions are easier than in any other nation. Business activities in England are at high-water mark. As for the United States, a harmony must be established between the government and the big business interests such as the Union and Southern Pacific railroads. I feel most optimistic about the future of business both in Europe and in America."

Miss Gwendolyn Morris '10 was a recent visitor at the college.

'11. E. S. S. Sunderland has undergone a severe attack of appendicitis and is now in the hospital.

'12. H. O. Thayer is in Washburn, Wis.

Among the alumni back to enjoy Junior Week were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carter, both of 1910, Ivers Hackett, and C. W, Mulcahy, '12.

Recent alumnea visitors in Middlebury were: Miss Rachel Pike, '12, Miss Rena Huntley, '10, and Miss Mary Bresnehan, '12.

Miss Elizabeth Ryder, '11, has accepted a position as teacher in Mattituck, R. I., for next year.

Results in the Hash House League

This is no place for a nervous man! Dwire's, the undefeated, have a seeming death grip on the table napkin pennant. Recently they led the Mexican athletes, otherwise known as the D. K. E. Leaguers, to the block and decapitated their dearest hopes by the score of 11 to 6. Everything looked rosy for said Mexicans for the first few innings, but "Mose" forgot that "Chub" Cronk was at bat and grooved the ball straight over the pan. The hard-hearted batsman slammed out a triple, scoring two of his loitering tablemates and driving all of "Mose's" pitching hopes to the four winds! This started the toboggan and nothing could check the victorious horde of Dwire's until the above monstrous score was piled up.

Student Government Notes.

Election of Student Government officers occurred Monday, May 12. President, Miss Helen Haugh; vice-president, Miss Gladys Wilson; secretary, Miss Marion Thomas; treasurer, Miss Harriet Blakeman.

The house chairman of Pearsons Hall and class representatives are yet to be chosen.

At last, May 6, the tennis courts on the women's campus are ready for use and a most liberal patronage is assured.

NORWICH DEFEATS MIDDLEBURY.

A Pitcher's Battle from Start to Finish. Two Little Errors Did It All.

Middlebury was defeated by Norwich Saturday, May 10, in a ten-inning pitchers' battle. Middlebury had the game won up to the sixth inning, when an error tied the score. Another error in the tenth inning lost the game. Middlebury played ball superior to Norwich, but the two errors they made lost the game. Vail pitched excellent ball, allowing only one hit in the ten innings and striking out sixteen men.

First inning. Murray and Shepard, the first two men up far Norwich, struck out. Munsell hit on the ground to Jones and was out at first. Robinson, the first man up for Middlebury, was out on a foul fly. Jones reached first on an error. Triggs hit to the pitcher, but he threw over the first baseman's head, scoring Jones and putting Triggs on second. Aylward hit a fly ball to the first baseman and was out. Weafer hit to the short stop for the third out.

Second inning. Belyea was out on a fly to Aylward. O. E. Thompson and H. H. Thompson both struck out. Haskins hit to the first baseman and was out. Williams hit to the short stop and was thrown out at first. Loder knocked a high fly to the short stop, making the third out.

Third inning. O'Neil hit to Haskins for an out. Anderson tried the same thing and was also out. McCann struck out. Vail hit to the center fielder and was out. Robinson struck out. Jones got a clean hit. Triggs got a three-base hit and scored, Jones making the score two to nothing in Middlebury's favor. Aylward hit to the second baseman and was out at first.

Fourth inning. Murray hit to Triggs and was thrown out at first. Shepard struck out. Munsell hit to Weafer, making the third out. Weafer hit to center field for the first out. Haskins hit to the first baseman. Williams struck out.

Fifth inning. Belyea hit a hard one to Jones, who made a fine throw to first end caught him out. O. E. Thompson and H. H. Thompson struck out. Loder hit to the short stop for an out. Vail hit to the third baseman for the second out. Robinson reached first on an error, but was caught trying to steal second.

Sixth inning. O'Neil, the first man up, got his base on balls. Anderson hit to Vail, who threw the ball to first. Jones and Loder were both covering first and eaeh expected the other to catch the ball, but neither tried for it, so there was a man on second and third with none out. McCann hit a high fly to Haskins and was out, but the man on third scored. Murray hit to Vail and was out at first, but O'Neil also scored, making the score a tie. Shepard struck out. Jones got his base on balls. Triggs hit to the second baseman, who made a double play, catching Jones off first. Aylward reached first on an error. Weafer hit to the second baseman and was out.

Seventh inning. Munsell got the first and only hit for Norwich. Belyea struck out. O. E. Thompson hit to Jones, making the second ont. H. H. Thompson was out at first. Haskins got his base on balls. Williams struck out. Loder and Vail both hit to the first baseman for easy outs.

Eighth inning. O'Neil struck out. Anderson was out at first. McCann struck out. Robinson was caughr out at first base. Jones hit a high foul, which the catcher got easily. Triggs reached first on an error. Aylward struck out.

Murray struck out. Shepard walked. Munsell struck out. Belyea was out at first. Weafer hit to the pitcher for an easy out. Haskins was caught out by the third baseman. Williams got a base on balls. Loder hit to the third baseman and was out.

Tenth inning. O. E. Thompson was hit by Vail and reached first. H. H. Thompson reached first on an error, and O. E. Thompson scored. O'Neil was caught out at first. Anderson and McCann both struck out.

The score was now three to two in favor of Norwich. Middlebury tried to rally, but they could not score. Lamere was sent on to bat for Vail and walked to first. Robinson struck out. Jones could not get hold of ball for a safe hit and flied out to the short stop. Lamere tried to steal second and was caught out, ending the game.

of the door. Lord Essex thought it meant for a salute and raised his hat. Peter Canavan in a flash discovered that he had wasted years in looking for the strongest man and it was he himself all the time. Lady Gregory's witty Irish play was most ably acted by the following caste :

Peter Canavan	Moses Gilbert Hubbard
Antony Canavan	Howard Farwell
Captain Headley	John Voss

THE "CHAMPS" DEFEATED.

Swezey to tie knots in their bats trying to locate his "whangerdoodle" ball. 'Tis rumored that Walkers have discovered that he was once a semi-professional and will not let him mow them down again. Walker's mascot, Prof. Cady, jr., saw his team go down in defeat but he was too late in arriving to aid them at a critical moment and could only bolster up their hopes in the last inning. We must not forget to commend "Hank O'Day" Weafer on his ability as an umpire but we cannot help but think that the smoke of his cigarette dazed "Hutch" at several very inopportune moments. The standing of the teams is as follows :

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Dwyer's	1.	0.	1.000
Walker's	1.	1.	.500
Sargent's	0.	1.	.000

Belated Editorials.

We suggest that a duplicate of the fine new fire escape on the rear of Pearsons be attached to the front of those bran-new bleachers. The architect of the bleachers was no friend of Dame Fashion. We doubt if our grandmothers in their hoop-skirts could have scaled the height of the first step, and certainly for their hobbling descendants the task is impossible. It is pathetic to see the co-eds, having safely traversed all intervening ditches, stand appalled before the grand stand. Any youth struggling for an education, who would imitate a Pullman porter and be on hand with a footstool, would find a splendid get-rich-quick-scheme.

Just a suggestion offered in a friendly spirit. Would it come amiss for the college to have some sort of conveyance to transport its students to and from trains at the opening and closing of each session? Our trunks are most kindly provided for. Why should not we, ourselves, be? We do not ask for style but we do ask for comfort, and it is very hard to walk from the station to the hill, carrying suit cases, especially late at night when even the electric lights refuse to shed their friendly rays upon us. Here is food for thought.
